Historical documents such as these Fire Insurance Maps, air photographs and others will be used to identify where mines, mills and tailings were located and where the tailings may have migrated. This information will be used in planning sampling.